Networks part 3 marks the latest chapter in an ongoing series of collective exhibitions presented by al markhiya gallery, in collaboration with leading galleries and art institutions across the Arab world.

For this edition, al markhiya gallery is pleased to partner with Saleh Barakat Gallery in Beirut. Together, the two galleries present a curated selection of works by artists whose practices reflect the richness and complexity of contemporary Arab art.

Founded in Beirut in 2006, Saleh Barakat Gallery has played a key role in nurturing and promoting modern and contemporary art from Lebanon and the wider Arab region. The gallery is known for its commitment to cultural preservation and critical discourse, supporting both established and emerging artists through thoughtfully curated exhibitions and international collaborations.

Through this partnership, Networks part 3 highlights the diversity of artistic expression in the region, fostering cross-cultural dialogue and strengthening connections between creative communities in Doha and Beirut.

al markhiya gallery looks forward to expanding this participatory platform in the coming years, building lasting relationships with galleries throughout the Arab world.
